THE RALEIGH NEWS.

VOL XVII-NO. 56 RALEIGH N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1880. 5.00 PER ANNUM

WASHINGTON.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Proceedings of the Senate and House. Telegraphic Sparks Flashed over the Wires from all parts of the World.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Hoar submitted a resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to report a bill providing compensation for all persons whose ships wers destroyed by Confederate cruisers during the late rebellion from moneys received under the Geneva award. Laid over under the rules.

Morgan submitted a resolution providing a rule for counting the electoral vote. Referred to Select Committee on the subject.

Eaton, from the Committee on appropriations, reported favorably on the bill appropriating $250,000 for public printing and said he had intended to ask for its present consideration, but understanding that the Senator from Minnesota, (Windom) intended to offer a certain amendment he would not ask it. He would prefer not to have any puplic printing rather than renew the fight over the marshall's appropriation.

Edmunds asked the present consideration of the bill, and it was taken up.

Windom offered an amendment appropriating $60,000 to pay marshals and their deputies. This was opposed by Eaton, Davis, of West Virginia, Saulsbury and Bailey, and advocated by Edmunds, Conkling and Windom, the latter referring to the closing of the U. S. Court in New York, and saying the amendment provided for as necessary an outlay as the bill itself did.

The President, pro tem., (Thurman) decided as a point of order that the amendment was in order, this not being a general appropriation bill.

During the debate on Window's amendment, Saulsbury said the President having shown his unwillingness to sign bills having riders, he was obliged to vote against the proposed amendment.

Edmunds understood the President's objection was to riders making new laws as a condition upon which Congress would vote money to conduct the Government. This amendment was not such a rider. It merely provided for expenses already incurred under existing laws.

The U. S. Court in New York had closed already and unless money was soon appropriated the President might be obliged to say to all those connected with the administrations of justice that Congress having evinced unwillingness to appropriate money to carry on that administration they must stop operations.

Eaton said if the President ever said that, he would say what was untrue. Congress was always ready to vote money to carry on the Government, but they proposed to do it in their own proper way and not to be lectured like children on the way they should do their duty.

Mr. Bailey thought the amendment premature, as the President's objection was only to the form of legislation and not to its substance; the House would probably, having respects to its legislative rights and privileges, pass the bill over the veto.

HOUSE.

Wells, of Missouri, submitted a conference report on the Indian appropriation bill and it was agreed to. (The report states that the main point of difference between the two Houses was in regard to the discontinuance of the Board of Indian Commissioners as finally agreed upon. The commission is continued but a proviso is inserted that no money shall be paid for salaries and expenses of that commission.)

The morning hour being dispensed with the House at 12.35 went into Committee of the Whole, (Carlisle in the chair) on the Post Office appropriation bill.

Chinese Aid for Ireland.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The steamship Gaelic, from Hong Kong via Yokohama, arrived here to-day. She brings the following intelligence from Hong Kong under date of April 7: The French difficulty with Anam promises a peaceful solution. The Chinese in Hong Kong have subscribed liberally to the Irish relief fund. The Chief Justice of Hong Kong in sentencing kidnappers said that the servitude existing on the island is slavery, cruel and despotic, and expressed the belief that the government would succed in eradicating it. It was a violation of English laws, and he himself would severely punish all convicted before him.

A Great Strike in the North of England.

LONDON, May 4.—Upwards of seven thousand iron workers are on a strike in the North of England against a five per cent. reduction awarded by arbitrators. The Burnley masters in order to support the Blackburn masters in their notice to spinners and card room hands of reduction of wages have decided to suspend the rule requiring notice before discharging hands. The Blackburn operatives are very determined, and it is feared that if they strike another lockout will ensue involving the majority of Lancashire manufacturers. A ballot was taken by the iron workers at Cansett to-day and a majority of four to one was in favor of the continuance of the strike.

Irish Distress as Great as Ever.

DUBLIN, May 4.—Capt. Potter, of the United States ship Constellation, was to-day presented with the freedom of the City of Dublin. Lord Mayor Gray, who presided at the ceremonies, stated that the distress in Ireland was as great as ever, and he feared that during the next three months it would prove most severe. Capt. Potter signed the Burgess Roll amid cheers. He returned thanks to the citizens. The crowd cheered Capt. Potter and his officers as they were leaving the city hall.

Erasion from the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Ways and Means committee voted to-day to strike out the sugar question from the tareff bill now under consideration, and resorted to the House in the form of an independent bill. The Committee nearly completed the bill this morning and will meet again on Saturday, for its final adoption.

The Tobacco Crop in Va.

PETERSBURG, Va. May 6.—Intelligence from different sections of the State report greater scarcity of tobacco plants than has ever been known for a number of years, those growing being destroyed by tobacco fly. Farmers are so discouraged that in many instances the ground prepared for tobacco is being planted with corn and peas. It is thought that not more than ¼ the usual crop of tobacco can be made this year.

Ohio Democratic State Convention.

CINCINNATI, May 6.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order by John G. Thompson, chairman of Central Committee. Frank Hurd, of Toledo, was chosen temporary chairman. Hurd made a short speech predicting with united effort the triumphant sweep of the Democratic party in November. His reference to Thurman as worthy of all honor from Democrats of the United States was received with continued applause.

Maryland Republican State Convention.

FREDERICK, Md., May 6.—The Republican Convention was called to order by Henry Stockbridge, chairman of the State Central Committee. Stockbridge called the list of delegates, omitting Baltimore county and the legislative District's of Baltimore city. On calling the last county (Wycomico) Stockbridge called Baltimore county, naming and recognizing "Ditty" or Grant delegates and then called and recognized "Booth" or Grant delegates from the second district of Baltimore and stating that irregularities in appointing delegates from the first and third districts were so great that papers would go before the committee on credentials when appointed. H. Clay Haill, of Frederick, was elected temporary chairman of committee on credentials. The Convention the took a recess.

Nominations.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the name of Chas. E. Robinson, to be Collector of Customs for the district of Albermarle, N. C.

Attacked By Indians.

GALVESTON, May 6.—A special to the News from Messila, New Mexico, says that Coorey's Mining Company in the Mangolen mountains, was attacked, on Thursday evening, by the Indians, supposed to be Victoria's. One man was killed and one wounded. The attack was made about sun-down, and the men being scattered, but little resistance could be made. The attack was renewed Friday morning, and the fighting continued till night, thirty-two white men being engaged against forty or fifty Indians. Four whites were killed, two Indians wounded. The loss is not known. They disappeared, and it is not known in what direction they went. Upon receipt of the News in Silver city, two companies, numbering sixty-five men, were organize and started in search.

New Hampshire Republican Convention.

CONCORD, May 6.—The Republican Convention met at Phoenix Hall. H. H. Huse, Chairman of the State Committee, called the Convention to order. Hon. Aaron F. Stevens, of Nashua, was chosen president, with one vice-pesident from each county.

Mr. Parnell to Sit for Cork.

LONDON, May 5.—A dispatch from Dublin to the Times says: Mr. Parnell paid a farewell visit to Navan yesterday to announce to the electors of county of Meath, that he had definitely resolved to sit for Cork. There was a preliminary conference of the Roman Catholic bishops and clergy, who unanimously resolved to accept as satisfactory Mr. Parnell's reasons for leaving Meath, and by a majority decided to adopt Mr. A. M. Sullivan as his successor, provided he felt at liberty to cooperate cordially with Mr. Parnell in parliament. A public open air meeting was held in the evening, and the announcement of Mr. Sullivan's name elicited cheers and cries of "No." There were several hand to hand fights among the partisans of the rival candidates, Messrs. Drake and Sullivan. The police were obliged to interfere several times to protect Mr. Drake's partisans from being severely maltreated. Mr. Parnell said if he consulted his own inclination he would represent Meath, but if he did so Cork would be undoubtedly lost.

Chicago Republican Convention.

MADISON, Wisconsin, May 6.—Of the delegates elected to Chicago at the Republican Convention yesterday, 9 are for Walshburne, 7 for Blaine, 3 for Sherman, and 1 for Garfield.

A Speech From the Throne.

RIO DEJANERIO, May 6.—The Emperor opened the Brazelion Chambers yesterday. In a speech from the throne he said the resolutions with foreign powers were friendly, and announced the disappearance of yellow fever from Rio and the cessation of draught in the province.

DE PROFUNDIS.

Mr. Tennyson's New Poem on the Unfolding of a New Life Bud.

LONDON, May 2.—The following is Mr. Tennyson's new poem entitled "De Profundis," which is published in the Nineteenth Century for May:

Out of the deep, my child, out of the deep,
Where all that was to be in all that was,
Whirled for a million aeons thro' the vast
Waste down thro' multitudinous eddying light.

Out of the deep, my child, out of the deep,
Thro' all this changing world of changeless law,
And every phase of ever heightening life,
And nine long months of anti natal gloom,
With this last moon, this crescent, her dark orb
Touched with earth's light, thou comest, darling boy,
Our own. A babe in liniment and limb,
Perfect and prophet of the perfect man,
Whose face and form are hers and mine in one,
Indissolutely married, like our love.

Live and be happy in thyself, and serve
This mortal race, thy kin, so well that men
May bless thee as we bless thee, O young life,
Breaking with laughter from the dark; and may
The fated channel where thy motion lives
Be prosperously shaped, and sway thy course
Along the years of haste and random youth
Unshattered; then in full current thro' the man;
And last, in kindly curves with gentlest fall,
By quiet fields, a slowly dying power,
To that last deep where we and thou are still.

ALL AROUND US.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY, AND HOW THEY SAY IT.

Pencilings by the Wayside from our Regular Correspondent.

HARNETT.

HARRINGTON, May 5.—"The day is dark and dreary." The cold rains of May are upon us which in connection with the cool nights are injuring the wheat.

Died in Buckhorn township on the 29th ult William Senter and Mrs. Mary Ann Truelove; also in Neills Creek township on the 30th, ult Joel Denning, all old and respected citizens.

The democratic executive committee met at Lillington Monday and appointed delegates to the Congressional and State Conventions. They are uninstructed. Primary meetings are to be held the 17th July and the county convention is to be held July 31. In the mean time the aspiriants for the various offices will not be idle.

Next Monday the 10th is the day for the decoration of the graves of the Confederate dead. It should be a sacred day to the sons and daughters of the South. One day at least should be dedicated to the strewing with flowers the green sod that marks the place where the few mouldering bones now lie that once was the form of a brother.

Those who fell in the arms of victory need no monument to preserve their memories, the prosperity of their country are sufficient epitaphs that their names will never be forgotten. But how shall those be remembered who failed? It is their enemies who write their history, and it is this one-sided version of the conquerors that the world at large accepts as the truth.

It is true of the actors in the late contest now sleeping in their graves little does it matter what the world may think of their motives, but it seems they could hardly rest in peace even in the tomb should their descendants misjudge or condemn them.

"On fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn sound,
The bivouac of the dead."

Let the sod rest lightly on their heroic breasts. Green be the mound forever over their sacred remains.

Let the gentle doves from Heaven drop tenderly upon it. Let the flowers of the earth imblemish it with their sweetest oders, and let pure hands and loving hearts watch over it with jealous care.

Who Struck Billy Patterson.

Gainesville (Ga.) Register.

Many persons have heard the question, "Who struck Billy Patterson?" without knowing the origin of it. I propose to enlighten them a little on the subject. William Patterson was a very wealthy tradesman or merchant of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland. In the early days of Franklin county he bought up a great many tracts of land in the county, and spent a good portion of his time in looking after his interests there. He was said to be strong as a bear and as brave as a lion, but, like all brave men, he was a lover of peace, and, indeed, a good, pious man. Nevertheless, his wrath could be excited to a fighting pitch. On one occasion he attended a public gathering in the lower part of Franklin county, at some district court ground. During the day the two opposing bullies and their friends raised a row, and a general fight was the consequence. At the begining of the affray, and before the fighting began, Billy Patterson ran into the crowd to persuade them not to fight but to make peace and be friends. But his efforts for peace were unavailing, and while making them some of the crowd in the general melee struck Billy Patterson a severe blow from behind. Billy at once became fighting mad, and cried out at the top of his voice, "Who struck Billy Patterson?" No one could or would tell him who was the guilty party. He then proposed to give any man a hundred dollars who would tell him "Who struck Billy Patterson." From $100 he rose to $1,000, but not $1,000 would induce any man to tell him "Who struck Billy Patterson." And years afterwards, in his will, he related the above facts and bequeathed $1,000 to be paid by his executors to the man who would tell "Who struck Billy Patterson." His will is recorded in the Ordinary's office at Gainesville, Franklin county, Ga., and any one curious about the matter can there find it and verify the preceding statements.

Sam's Soliloquy.

To run or not to run; that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer
The bolts and curses of outrageous Kelly,
Or to take arms against a sea of sachems
And by withdrawing end them? To dye—to sleep—
No more; and by a sleep to say we plug
The bar'l and the thousand fierce attacks
That S. J. T. is heir to—'tis a usufruct
Devoutly to be wished. To dye—to sleep—
To sleep! perchance to dream; aye there's the rub;
For in that sleep at home, in Gramercy park,
Indifferent to the choice at Cincinnati
Since it would not be me—what dreams may come
When I have shuffled off ambition's coil,
Must give me panse. There's the respect
That makes calamity of so long life;
Aye, most as long as William Evarts' sentences.
For who would bear the whips and scorns of men,
The fangs of Fields, Dorsheimer's contumely
The pangs of useless ciphers, expensive nincompoops,
A bungling nephew and an income suit,
When he himself might his quietus make
By just withdrawing? Who'd gonfalons bear
To bleed at every bar'l the campaign through,
But that the dread of something after death—
The undiscovered country from whose bourne
There come no false returns—puzzle my will,
And makes me rather bear those ills I have
Than fly to others I know not of,
And leave the field to Hancock or to Hendricks.
And thus the hue of my firm resolution
To write a letter saying "I withdraw,"
Is sickled o'er with a pale cast of thought,
That hides it as a long-tailed ulster hides
The vest that is beneath it—'Sdeath,
Pelton,
Put up the pen and ink—I'll not withdraw to-day!
I'll not withdraw to-day! I'll not withdraw to-day!

THE SLEEPING BEAUTY.

A Young Woman who has been Awake only twenty minutes a day for a year.

St. Louis Post.

Some twenty-three miles distant from Knightstown, Ind., in a German settlement, there is a beautiful young woman, some 21 years of age, daughter of Casper Schmidt, who is to all appearances quite dead, having been in that state for nearly twelve months past. She awakens, however, once every twenty-four hours, precisely at 10 o'clock at night, and will converse with the family and others for about twenty minutes when she will again relapse into the comatose state and remain so until 10 o'clock the following night, at which hour she revives to the minute, throwing out her arms and folding her hands together and raising upon her shoulders until the spectators imagine that her bones are cracking. She remains in that laborious state for the space of ten minutes, when she comes to a perfect possession of her faculties. A sigular feature of the case is the young lady recollects well if any promises have been made her the previous night, and will be very fretful for a time if they are not fulfilled; but if the things are brought her she makes use of none of them, as she eats and drinks little or nothing at all. She could never be persuaded to attempt to eat any food but three times during thirty-two days, and then put the three together she did not eat any more than a child a year old would take. After conversing a few minutes this remarkable young lady will suddenly clasp her hands together, throw her arms into the same manner as when awakening, and will return into the same somnolent state as before until 10 o'clock the following night.

The Presidential Situation.

Special to Richmond Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 4.—Sixty days ago Don Cameron had no second choice, and avowed a sublime faith in the certainty of Grant's nomination. Now a Republican member of Congress from Pennsylvania says that he has avowed himself for Blaine as a seconded choice. The same member of Congress says that from thirty to forty of the Pennsylvania delegates to Chicago will fly the track and vote on the first ballot for Blaine. Another Republican member informs me that there is certainly a break in the New York delegation also, but he does not know the exact number that will go for Blaine. A Virginia Republican remarked to-night that if the Virginia delegation votes for Grant on the first ballot that they cannot be held together after that. He further said if Grant is not nominated on the first ballot that he can never be nominated.

Mrs. Clymer's Wedding Dress.

The Jenkins of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat describes thus the wedding dress of Representative Heister Clymer's bride: "The bride looked every inch a bride in her robe of delicate pearl-gray gros grain of magnificent texture, whose beauty had a witchery that by contrast made white insipid. A soft tint of warmth seemed to blush in the rich fabric in which it lay in thick folds as they swept forth in the long and ample court train about whose edges rifts of fine lace lay like rime, but ere you could define the gleam of a tint 'twas gone, and the pale pearl of the petticoat, flecked and shadowed by deep falls of superb duchesse in a pattern of oak leaves and roses alternating with scantily shirred puffs of the pearl-tinted silk, was simple and almost severely elegant."

Cotton Goods in China.

The Russian cotton trade are very interested in the troubles which have arisen between their government and that of China. The Kuldja treaty, which the Chinese are anxious to rescind, provides that the citizens of Russia, alone among foreign nationalities, shall have the right to trade in the western provinces of China. The cotton trade is the one which would be most benefited by such a monopoly, and Russian cotton manufacturers claim that they would be able to control the whole trade of Western China should the treaty be adopted, and that they might even seize from the English, a portion of the trade in Eastern China. The Russian cotton mills turn out a coarse but serviceable class of goods, which have recently been rapidly gaining in favor among Asiatic consumers.

DEATH'S SAD WORK

AT THE GOOD TEMPLARS PIC-NIC YESTERDAY.

Beauregard Crocker and John McMillan, in their Efforts to Save Miss Mitchell, Lose their Own Lives.

This Community was greatly shocked yesterday morning by the intelligence of one of the saddest accidents that has occurred among us for a long time. News was brought in from Penny's Mill Pond, that Mr. Beauregard Crocker and Mr. John M. McMillan, two highly respected young men of this city, were drowned, and that Miss. Annie Mitchell, who was with the young gentlemen in a boat, had been rescued from death by the superhuman efforts and undaunted courage of Mr. Charles H. Jordan, who manfully staked his own life to save the drowning young lady. The facts connected with the sad event were as follows:

The members of the Hickman Lodge were pic-nicking at Penny's Pond, and, as usual on such occasions, a boat ride is one of the favorite attractions, and among those who had secured a boat were the young lady and gentlemen, who, it seems, were quietly engaged in fishing when the boat struck a snag and was held fast. Mr. McMillan endeavored to loosen the boat with his paddle and his efforts causing it to creen over, the young lady became frightened, who in her excitement capsized the boat, throwing all three of its occupants into the water, which was about 12 feet deep. In the confusion which ensued the boat drifted off and the young gentlemen, in their anxiety to save the young lady, became entangled with each of the young lady's arms around their necks, thus preventing the free use of themselves, and causing all three to sink together twice, when the young lady became separated, the young gentlemen still clinging to each other went down the last time and were lost.

Mr. Charles H. Jordan, in company with Iley Rogers, was in a boat about 250 yards distant from the scene, discovered the imminent peril of the party and at once set out to their rescue, paddling his boat alone with great energy and arriving within ten feet of the young lady just as she was sinking the third time. He cried out to his companion "I am tired out, can't you save her," and was answered "I can't swim." Springing to his feet he threw off his coat, vest and hat and dived headlong after the drowning young lady, who was only discovered by a pink bow in her hair floating on the water. He struggled with the unconscious form for a period of nearly ten minutes rising for breath, then sinking and buoying up the young lady above the surface, who would catch breath and then sink. In this way they were both kept alive until rescued by Mr. Rogers, who succeeded in bringing up the boat which had been pushed off some distance when Mr. Jordan sprang from it.

The bodies of the young men were found by Mr. S. M. Parish who succeeded in bringing them to the surface Every means possible to restore life were employed, but in vain—life was extinct.

Restoratives were applied to Miss Mitchell, who was unconscious and she was soon revived and pronounced out of danger.

Vehicles from the city had arrived and the bodies of the young men were brought back followed by one of the saddest processions that ever entered Raleigh.

Notice of the funeral is given elsewhere.

Facts About Fertilizers.

The fertilizer people have done a better business the past season than ever before in the history of the trade. The increase has been fully 25 per cent. over last year, and in 1879, it will be remembered, the demand for fertilizers was exceptionally heavy. It is a trade given over to sharp competition, and the big fishes are steadily making away with the little ones. In New York, however, only one firm has failed for a year past. Many concerns, however, have worked without profit. One stock company, at Wood's Hole, in Massachusetts, with a capital of $1,000,000, has never yet been able to pay a dividend.

The manufacturers claim that the profits of the business are very small, considering the risk and long credit which has to be given to buyers. The fertilizers shipped from the North in November, December, January, and February, are paid for by the farmers in cotton from their next crop, generally in November and December. The fertilizer is delivered at the plantation depot, and the cotton is received there by the fertilizer firm. The fertilizer men employ an army of agents and canvassers in all the fertilizer districts of the South.

The amount of cotton received for a ton of fertilizers varies, according to the price of cotton and the distance from the shipping port, from 400 pounds to 480 pounds. Of course the fertilizer manufacturers are obliged to keep thoroughly informed in regard to the cotton market, and some of them are members of the New York Cotton Exchange.

In New York there are 16 or 18 manufacturers of fertilizers, most of whom are small men. During the past year, they have disposed of from 80,000 to 100,000 tons. Nearly all of this went to the Atlantic cotton-growing States—North and South Carolina and Georgia. More than usual was sold this year in Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, but the demand from these States is yet in its infancy.

The principal competition which New York meets with is from Baltimore. A paragraph has been going the rounds of the Southern papers, lately to the effect that 300 firms are engaged in the manufacture of fertilizers, at Bultimore. Our New York manufacturers claim that this is a gross exaggeration, and that most of the so-called fertilizer manufacturers, in Baltimore, are small dealers. They also claim that failures have been numerous among the Baltimore houses, and that the financial condition of many of the remaining firms is not good; but this statement should be taken with a grain of salt.

America at the Fish Exhibition.

The United States has sent one of the largest, and in every respect the most remarkable collections of the exhibition. In several large cases are displayed the birds and aquatic mammals of North America, and a large screen is occupied by plaster casts of fishes. The collection of angling apparatus is most complete. There are rods of all sizes and kinds, from the stout, heavy pickerel rod to the slender six-ounce bamboo trout-rod, with its silver mountings and agate bearings. There are artificial flies, spoon baits, and books in profusion. There are lines of cotton, linen, silk and grass. There are little iron reels which could be purchased for a shilling, and beautifully finished multiplying reels in brass and india rubber whose value must be computed in pounds. One long corridor is occupied by apparatus for rigging fishing vessels, and includes everything from an anchor to a seine-needle. Among the many models and full-size examples of boats is the "Shadow Canoe." The little boat is used on rivers and lakes for purposes of fishing or exploration. Although only a few feet long, it carries two sails of no mean size, and has space for the stowing of provisions and other necessary articles for an excursion. It is so light that a man of average strength would find no difficulty in carrying it past rapids and shoals. Down stairs there is a space allotted to fish preserved for food. There is fresh fish in cans, fish dried, smoked, salted, spiced, and even deviled. There is fish in casks and in barrels, in drums, kits, wooden boxes, paper boxes, glass cans, tin cans, &c. There are lobsters and crabs many, and clams not a few. Here, too, the Americans carry off the palm.

End of the Oliver-Cameron Case.

Washington Star.

This morning, in the Court in General Term, the case of the widow (Mary S.) Oliver vs ex-Secretary Simon Cameron—action for breach of promise of marriage and seduction—was decided in favor of defendant. In the court below the amount claimed was $50,000, and the jury found a verdict for defendant. During the trial there were 18 exceptions taken by plaintiff from the rulings of Chief Justice Carter, and the case was argued before Judges Wylie, Hagner and Cox a few days ago, and the opinion delivered by Judge Hagner this morning. The principal exception was on the admission of the testimony of A. G. Riddle, to whom plaintiff had made certain statements, as was claimed, in his capacity as attorney, and which plaintiff claimed were confidential communications and should have been ruled out. The judge refers at some length to the testimony of Mr. Riddle, the purport of which was that the widow came to him as a friend and adviser, and what she told him she desired should be communicated to Mr. Cameron, and that he from time to time wrote letters to Mr. Cameron, received money from him and paid it to her, and that this fact was known to both parties, and no secrecy existed as to this fact. He refers also to the plaintiff in her evidence, not intimating that she consulted Mr. R. as an attorney, and indeed, and in fact, it does not appear from the whole testimony in the case that he was her attorney, excepting from an intimation from Mr. Riddle on the witness stand. He also refers to the fact that she failed to make an objection at the time, and it must be regarded as a waiver of her rights in this respect. Since it was well settled that an attorney may be examined as to his relations with parties, it is not difficult to see that he may be sworn to disprove his employment as such, and there was no error in the ruling of the court below on this point. He refers to the absence of evidence as to the other 17 points, and dismisses them and orders the judgment below to be affirmed.

Raleigh Carpet Baggers.

Chatham Record.

We have noticed with much pleasure the rapid and continued growth of Raleigh, and have admired the public spirit and enterprising energy of her citizens. Since the close of the war her population has more than doubled, and her business more than trebled. Magnificent public buildings adorn her streets, while private enterprise has rendered beautiful the "City of Oaks" by the erection of handsome residences and large and commodious stores, so that every North Carolinian has just cause to feel proud of his State's capital. Natives of other sections of the State have removed to Raleigh, have contributed to her prosperity, and are identified with her interests just as much as those who happened to have been born there. We, therefore, regret and are surprised to learn that these citizens of Raleigh have recently been publicly stigmatized as "carpet-baggers" from other counties, and objection made to their discharging their duty as citizens in participating in a public meeting. Yes, we are reliably informed that at the Democratic mass meeting held at Raleigh last Saturday, a lawyer of that city made a speech, in which he denounced "carpet-baggers from other counties attempting to manipulate Wake politics." This speaker, we are assured, did not represent the feelings of the native-born residents of Raleigh, who gladly welcome the citizens of any county who come to aid them in building up their prosperous city, and who freely accord to them every right and privilege that they themselves enjoy—even the right of participating in mass meetings and expressing their preferences for different candidates!

We allude to this matter because so many of these "carpet-baggers" are from this county, and we feel that our former countymen have been grossly insulted. Chatham has cause to feel proud of her sons who have removed to Raleigh, for they occupy the highest positions among her citizens, and have contributed no little to the prosperity of their adopted city, and reflect credit upon the country of their nativity. It is a pleasure for the Record to resent any insult offered to this county or to any of her sons, whether they now reside therein or not.

SUPERSTITION.

PETER CLARK TO WHAT TO A NEWSPAPER READER.

What His Father Regards as a Dangerous Superstition.

Cincinnati Commercial.

CHICAGO, April 29.—The point of a remarkable conversation between Col. Fred. Grant and one of the most distinguished Republican leaders of Illinois has just come to light. Col. Fred. upbraided the veteran for not being actively at work for Gen. Grant. During the conversation he said.

"My father says that there may come a time in the history of the republic when it may be to the vital interest of the people of this country to nominate a President for a third term, and when precedents set by Washington and Jefferson would stand in the way of the common welfare. It therefore becomes important to get that obstruction to the safety of the republic out of the way. My father says he is in a position to make that trial and win that victory against a public superstition of a dangerous precedent."

The speech of young Grant took the distinguished citizen aback. It was evident that the young man had been impressed with the divine mission of his father, and it is probable that the gentleman would not have deemed it advisable to make his utterances about the views of Gen. Grant public. But fortunately there was a witness who takes the public into confidence through the Commercial. The name of the prominent leader is withheld only because of his innocence of this publication. But it can be furnished, and he will not deny the truthfulness of the above report.

An Interview With Col. Scott.

The New York Tribune having stated editorially that the Texas Pacific railroad was the mistake of Col. Thos. A. Scott's life, that gentleman has responded as follows through a Tribune interviewer.

"The Texas Pacific is to-day one of the best roads in the country, with a great future. The floating debt which it was necessary to raise to build it has all been paid off. The equipment debt which is a very small one of $20,000 a mile, is the only debt it has, and it is secured by land grants. The Texas Pacific is perfectly able to take care of itself. We are building 400 miles of El Paso, as you know. After that it remains to be seen what will be done. In a year it will tap New Orleans so as to have a port on the gulf as well as the Atlantic seaboard. It is and will be a great road. When I was before Congress for a subsidy Mr. Reid's paper opposed me. That was all right. I am very glad we did not get it. We are better for having had to rely on our own resources. We applied for aid because we thought that was an economical way to build a road. I don't think so now. The government should not grant aid to any road. It is a mistake."

In regard to the proposition to place the railroads under government control Col. Scott said: "It would be the greatest mistake possible both for the railroads and the government. The government could not run them. There are too many now. They must turn to and develop themselves. They are today just beginning to fulfill the promises made in 1873, especially in the West. The West must develop, and the increased production, which means increased business, must come last. With a calm, conservative administration of affairs for the next twenty years, we must reach in railroading, as in all else, an unexampled era of prosperity."

Rev. Dr. Hoge Falls Among Thieves in a Far-Off Country.

Richmond Dispatch.

A letter received in Richmond yesterday, and dated 28th of March, from a lady in Dr. Hoge's party now traveling in Palestine, gives the following interesting account of an exciting episode:

"We had an unfortunate affair the night before. Some one broke into Dr. Hoge's tent and carried off his trunk and travelling satchel containing all his valuables—his gold watch and opera glasses, a purse containing £10 in gold, besides much else. After a great fuss and much searching the trunk was found over on the hill, rifled of its contents and his clothes all scattered around. We hardly hope that anything will be recovered, though the Governor here is making an effort and has arrested some parties. It was a most unfortunate beginning for us and our dragoman; but we think him innocent and have placed the guilt on our guards, who watched beside us whilst we slept. We hope nothing worse may occur."

Another letter written on the 4th of April, and received at the same time stated that nothing had been recovered but that the matter was in the hands of the American Consul at Jerusalem and the American Minister at Constantinople, who was present in Jerusalem at the time. Little hope is entertained, however, of recovering the lost articles.

The party consists of Rev. Dr. Hoge, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Pemberton, Rev. Mr. Holcombe and wife, missionaries to India, and Miss Spaulding, of New York. They are all in excellent health and spirits, and were to have left for Damascus in a few days.

The number of pleasure and business travelers going to Europe this year is unusually large, and taxes to its full capacity the passenger accommodation of the popular lines of steamers. The tide of immigration, however, sets westward with a stronger flow, and brings to our shores people who intend to stay. The immigrants probably fetch more money with them than the pleasurs-seekers will spend in Europe, thus keeping the financial situation on an even keel. Both the outward and the inward movement are indications of national prosperity.

DAILY NEWS

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1880.

GEO. C JORDAN, Editor and Propr

THE open, manly, and statesmanlike stand that Senator Vance has taken in the Spofford-Kellogg contest is to be greatly commended. The time has passed when men can hold office in this country without the shadow of a right to it. And it will be a shame and a crime, equal to the one perpetrated upon the country by the notorious Electoral Commission if Kellogg is allowed to remain longer in the Senate. We of the South have submitted patiently and long to the wrongs and contumelies heaped upon us by the Republican party; we have had our best men branded as traitors, and our treasuries rifled, and our States steeped in debt, and our people crushed with onerous taxes—all to support the party that stops at nothing to accomplish its unhallowed ends.

It is to be hoped that the Senate will purge itself of all such political brands as Kellogg.

THE cadet Whittaker has been made conspicuously the alleged outrage upon him at West Point. He will be fortunate if he does not make himself infamously notorious by proof that he was his own Ku Klux, which seems on the point of being proven by the testimony of the experts who seem to agree that the warning note in Whittaker's writing. If that be so, the Republican party will never forgive him, and ought to forgive itself. It has worked itself up from centre to circumference. It has thundered from the pulpit, it has roared from the rostrum, it has raged to Congress, and it has fired the fury of political Conventions. All are in the assumption that it was an outrage upon a negro. Too happy was that party that might fix another stigma upon the South; less happy, but still content that the outrage could be charged to rare prejudice. How extremely miserable it ought to be should it turn out that the spiritless and incompetent negro was his own persecutor. All the fury rouse against the South, all the rage inflamed against West Point, all the eloquence expended on the woes and the wrongs of the negro, all these gone for nothing, and the ridiculous spectacle presented of a whole party around to vehement action by the silly conduct of the very object of its interest.

But at least, we hear nothing more at the present of the barbarity of the Southern Cadets.

STANDING aloof, as we have done from declarations of preference for any one of the candidates named for the Gubernatorial office, we are none the less concerned for the success of the choice of the Convention satisfied, that though individual preferences may be disappointed, the popular interests will be subserved in the selecting of any one of the gentlemen at present the prominent objects of canvass. With this belief, we make no hesitation in taking the part of moderator to call the friends of the various gentlemen concerned in the race to order, and ask them to calm their tempers and moderate their expression to a tone attuned to justice and good sense.

The Democratic party has no idea of putting any man before the people through the action of the Convention, who is not a good Democrat, sound in principle, lofty in intellect, firm in character; such a man, in fact, upon whom all the party, in all sections of the State can unite. Such unity we expect, without a trace of that dissatisfaction which attaches to a temporary disappointment. We believe this is the temper and purpose of the party, it always has been so, and always must be so. All men cannot attain their choice or preferences, the prize can only be to one; and the unsuccessful competitors in the preliminary race are usually the first to fall into the support of the fortunate rival.

It seems therefore right to ask a calm and just discipline of the claims and characters of the gentlemen now before the public, and say and do nothing that must exact, pertinence or recantation. For no present candidate for honors is open to any changes founded upon fact, which justifies assault even from political friends, who in the heat of zeal snatch up any convenient weapon to attain their end, and wield it regardless of the pains they must, or at in real the wounds they have inflicted; for as we have said, all will eventually harmoniously and earnestly together.

Then we crave the use of that moderation in advance, the absence of which in the future must be the occasion of keen self reproach, and may weaken to some extent the energies of party harmony.

THE friende of Oleomargarine are coming to the front with a confidence that argues the command of a meritorious commodity. We confess to a permanent partiality for the natural butter of the cow—golden in color, rich in flavor, and fragrant in odor—such a product and as rich grapes, tender herbage, and healthy animal can originate. The Oleomargarine comes in as a suggestion of an improvement on nature; of a short cut to reach a result which was only elaborated by time from elementary principles in the natural laboratory. Oleomargarine suggests human manipulation, and consequently filth. It suggests human cupidity, and hence the use of cheap and improper materials, and to the common mind there is instinctive disgust at the use of a repulsion substituted for one of the firm necessaries, in fact luxuries, in daily use.

But in fact, the new product in honest hands, is an honest and unobjectionable product. Butter in its chemical constituents, butter really, in its origin, butter in its color, butter in its flavor, and butter in its uses. And if honest use of material, perfect cleanliness in manufacture and candid avowal of the article put in the market, there may be a subsidence of prejudice which was reasonable enough under the suggestions of apprehension which suspects with good reason adultery in almost any article of human food.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

ave Achieved the most noted success of any Medicines of Modern Times.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of Cuticura, Cuticura Resolvent, and Cuticura Soap, for the speedy, permanent, and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some they could fail solely from spasmodic or ignorant use of them.

They are enabled to say without fear of contradiction that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of wonderful cures performed by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SALT RHUM,

Covering the Body for Ten Years, Permanently Cured.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS. HOUGHTON,
17 Congress Street, Boston, Feb 28, 1878.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case Salt Rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time,—about ten (10) years,—covering the greater portion of the patient's body, and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease has been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a few days of profuse application of CUTICURA.

I can and do heartily advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. HOUGHTON.

Liver Complaint.

And Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolvent, Gains 5 1-2 pounds on One Bottle.

GENTLEMEN,—I have had Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, with running sores on the side of my neck, for ten years. Doctors did no good. I have been spending for eight years and it did me no good. Everything I ate distressed me. I got reduced from 170 to 132 pounds. At last I tried the RESOLVENT and it helped me right off, and on one bottle I gained five and one-half pounds. It is doing the business, and I am going for it strong. Yours truly,
JOHN H. ROY
114 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15, 1878.

NOTE.—Cuticura is admirable assisted in cases of extreme physical weakness, or when the virus of Scrofula is known to lurk in the system, by the internal use of the Cuticura Resolvent, without doubt the most powerful blood purifier and liver stimulant in the world.

Cuticura Soap is an elegant toilet and medicinal assistant to Cuticura in the treatment of all external ailments. For chapped hands, rough skin and tan, sunburn, and the lesser skin troubles, it is indispensable; as a soap for the toilet, the nursery and bath it is the most elegant, refreshing, and healing before the public.

These great remedies succeed where all others heretofore in use fail because they possess new and original properties never before successfully combined in medicine.

The Cuticura Remedies are prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, Boston, and sold by all Druggists. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes, containing two and one-half times the quantity of small, $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents; 3 cakes, 75 cents.

STARVATION IN IRELAND. No fear of that while we offer the present inducement. Agents can make $20 weekly; and it will be their own fault if they do not clear $50.
